photography

(references)

I've gotten a bigger interest in making these projected photos instead of drawing like my friends. what it means is basically you take a normal (photo/selfie) but instead of a normal portrait or landscape of yourself you project other photos onto yourself to create an entirely different image

the pictures seen here and in the next scene are some inspirations i had for this project is white and red (more references) it is projected on the white stripes to the naked eye

03.3 - PORTFOLIO SAMPLES

and these are some of the photos that i've edited so far

(my photos, edited)

"INSPIRATION"

"PURPLE FOREST"

"STRANDED"

I love how the black background goes great with the purple galaxy projected on the hands

I like how it just confuses me on which one is being projected

the way her hair goes well with whatever the background being projected is catches my eye

the black clothes that she is wearing associates with the galaxy design being projected and i think that is beautiful

this photo is a picture of my friend who actually volunteered to me to get their photos taken. the background is a sky with some buildings that are near my home

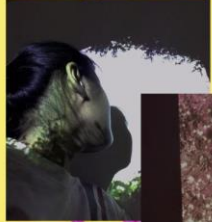

this is a photo of me with grass as the background being projected this might mean something related to nature, i am not quite sure

this one is sending out a message so for this one, i have chosen part of my sofa couch particularly the part with spots as hidden bruises as to how much i was hurt in my life that no one can see or not

"forgotten"

"thoughts"

"my time has come"

"c or rup ted"
